Ingredion and Batory Foods sign new ingredient distribution agreement for Southern California

WESTCHESTER, Illinois, USA (May 26, 2020) – Ingredion Incorporated, a leading global provider of ingredient solutions to diversified industries, today announced the signing of a strategic distribution agreement with Batory Foods. Effective May 24, 2020, the arrangement consolidates Ingredion’s distributor voice in Southern California to help food and beverage manufacturers get the ingredients they need to produce and bring their products to market, faster. Batory Foods will become the authorized licensed distributor of the Company’s ingredient solutions in Southern California.

“Distribution through Batory Foods allows us to focus our go-to-market efforts in a region known to be dynamic, innovative and faster to respond to shifts in consumer demand,” said Gary Leeson, Ingredion’s sales director, distributors. “With solutions ranging from clean label native and functional starches to multi-functional flours and fibers to plant-based proteins and non-GMO modified food starches, Ingredion has the breadth of ingredients to help manufacturers create market-ready products with just-right taste, texture and performance,” Leeson adds.

“Batory Foods will support Southern California customers with easy access to ingredient solutions and systems. We are proud to serve our customers with on-trend ingredient solutions that can help them thrive in an ever-changing marketplace,” said Dan Riesenber, Batory Food’s sales director. “Given our strong and extensive national distribution coverage, customers outside of Southern California will continue to be able to obtain Ingredion solutions through Batory Foods, as before,” Riesenber adds.
